How to purchase a grave

To purchase a burial plot, the grave owner is required to complete a paper copy of the purchase form, digital and typed signatures are not permitted. The form should be returned to the relevant office along with the full fee (in person or by phone). There will be an additional fee payable at the time of a burial for opening the grave.

Once a grave has been allocated, the Deed of ownership will be posted to the grave owner for safekeeping.

Arranging a burial

All burials must be carried out by appointment. The opening of the grave must be signed for and authorised by the registered grave owner. Appointments are available Monday to Friday (excluding bank holidays). Arrangements can be made directly or through a funeral director.

Memorials

All work on memorials is subject to prior approval by the Council and must be carried out by an approved and registered stonemason who will obtain the necessary permit from the Council. The permit request form must be signed by the grave owner. A list of approved and registered stonemasons is available from the office.

Memorials must be of stone or other natural material and fixed at the head of the grave. There are restrictions on the size and design of memorials that may be erected, details of which are held by your stonemason.

Transferring ownership of the grave

As the grave owner you may transfer ownership into a different name at any time. Both you and the new owner would need to complete an assignment form which can be collected from the office. When a grave owner passes away the Deed must be transferred into a new owner's name before any further burials can take place or the headstone can be amended. Please ask the office to provide you with a Transfer of Ownership form and a staff member will explain the process.
