Pages 15 and 16.

Different benefits have different rules. Please get in touch for advice if you need more information.

Means Tested Benefits.

These look at how much money you have and your circumstances before deciding if you are eligible. There are set amounts that can be paid if you qualify.

Universal Credit.

Universal Credit (UC) has replaced all working age benefits. This now includes couples where only one person is working age.

It has replaced:

- Housing benefit.
- Income Support.
- Income related Employment Support Allowance (ESA).
- Income based Job Seekers Allowance (JSA).
- Working Tax Credit.
- Child Tax Credit.

You cannot now make a new claim for these benefits.

A new claim will now need to be for Universal Credit.

Universal Credit - Helps to pay for daily living costs and rent.

It is for people who are working but have low earnings, are unable to work or are looking for work.

You or your partner must be under pension age.
You cannot have savings of more than £16,000.

The amount you receive is worked out by looking at your personal situation. Universal Credit is paid monthly.

Single Person Standard Allowance.

Under 25.	£338.58 a month.
25 or over.	£424.90 a month.

Couple Standard Allowance.

Both under 25.	£528.34 a month for you both.
Both over 25.	£666.97 a month for you both.

Child element.

Child element.	£303.94 a month.
1st Child if born before 6th April 2017.	£351.88 a month.

Child with Disability.

If your child has a disability and is receiving Disability Living Allowance, you may also receive.

Low.	£158.76 a month.
High.	£514.71 a month.

Severe Health or Disability.

If the Department of Work and Pensions agree that your Health or Disability means you cannot do activities to help you find work in the future. You may also receive:

Limited capability to work claims before 3/4/2017 only.	£158.76 a month.
Limited capability work related activity claims after April 2026.	£217.26 a month.
Limited Capability for Work and Work-Related Activity amount (pre-2026 claimant, meets severe conditions criteria claimant or claimant who is terminally ill).	£429.80 a month.

Carers Element.

If you are a carer of a severely disabled person, you may also receive.

Carers Element.	£209.34 a month.
-----------------	------------------

Child Care Costs if you are working.

You may be able to receive help towards childcare cost in certain circumstances.

One Child.	Up to £1,071.09
Two or more children.	Up to £1,836.16

Work Allowance Elements.

If you are working, you may receive either of the following additional elements.

Only applies if claimant has child or assessed by DWP as being unable to work.

Low rate if Universal Credit (UC) includes help with Rent.	£427.00
High rate if Universal Credit (UC) does not include help with Rent.	£710.00

How much Universal Credit you receive depends on your income and savings.

Your Universal Credit payment will decrease gradually as you earn more - for every £1 you earn you will receive 55p less in Universal Credit.

Benefit Cap.

There is a maximum amount you can receive in benefits. This includes most benefits, but there are some groups of people that the cap does not apply to.

Single person.	£1,413.92 a month.
Couples and families.	£2,110.25 a month.

Housing Cost Element - Universal Credit may help with payments towards your Rent.

Bedroom Tax - social landlords only.

If you have more rooms than your household needs your housing payment will be reduced.

- 14% reduction if you have 1 spare bedroom.
- 25% reduction if you have 2 or more spare bedrooms.

Local Housing Allowance - If you rent privately Councils are told the maximum amount of rent they can pay based on your circumstances.

Please see www.sefton@gov.uk/benefits or contact the Welfare Rights Team for more information.

Housing cost contributions.

Housing cost contributions are deductions made from the housing element of Universal Credit. This is for anyone over 21 who lives with you and are expected to contribute to your rent.

The deduction is £96.55 for each person.

The deduction would not be taken if:

- The person is under 21.
- You are registered as blind.
- The person living with you has responsibility for a child under 5.
- You or the person is getting the care component of Disability Living Allowance (DLA) at middle or higher rate.
- You or the person is getting the daily living component of Personal Independence Payment (PIP).
- You or the person is getting Attendance Allowance.
- The person is receiving Carers Allowance.
- Other situations, please see website or contact the welfare rights team.

Support Mortgage Interest – If you are a homeowner, you may be able to get help with interest payments for your mortgage or home related loans.

This is a loan which you must pay back.

You must receive qualifying benefits to receive this loan. For more information, please contact the welfare rights team.

Pension Credit.

Can give extra help to you if you are over the pension age and on a low income.

You can get Pension Credit even if you have other income, savings or own your home. If you get Pension Credit it may give access to other help.
